

Tulsi Gabbard Is Linked To Troubled GOP Finance Operative Implicated In George Santos Campaign And Other Scandals

SUMMARY: President-elect Donald Trump has selected former Congresswoman Tulsi Gabbard to be Director of National Intelligence. Although Gabbard “hasn’t held any senior government roles,” she would oversee 18 intelligence agencies, including the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) and the National Security Agency (NSA).

Trump’s own former National Security Adviser John Bolton has called Gabbard a “serious threat to national security” due to her embrace of Russian propaganda, demanding an FBI investigation into her before she has a confirmation hearing. Notably, the DNI played a “key role” in combatting Russian, Chinese, and Iranian misinformation efforts during the last election.

Accountable.US has found that Gabbard leads two non-profit groups deeply tied to a notorious Republican campaign finance operative Thomas Datwyler, who “has a long history of running roughshod over federal campaign finance law.” This includes serving as “shadow treasurer” for disgraced Rep. George Santos (R-NY), as treasurer for a group central in the Trump campaign’s “secret” funding of Arizona’s election audit, and as treasurer to a group tied to a suspicious legal defense fund that benefited former Trump Chief of Staff Mark Meadows.

- Gabbard is the president of We Must Protect, a 501(c)(3) non-profit organization that appears to have gotten all of its funding through government grants or contributions in its most recent tax filing—it is not known which government grants, if any, We Must Protect has taken. The group also has a 501(c)(4) called the We Must Protect Action Fund.
- Thomas Datwyler, a Republican campaign finance operative who “has a long history of running roughshod over federal campaign finance law,” has appeared as treasurer and bookkeeper in We Must Protect’s most recent tax filing and as “principal officer” for We Must Protect Action Fund.
- Datwyler was “shadow treasurer” for disgraced Congressman George Santos (R-NY), whose “major backers” included a foreign national and the cousin of a sanctioned Russian oligarch before Datwyler became affiliated with the campaign.
- Datwyler has also been treasurer for a group central in the Trump campaign’s “secret” 2021 funding of Arizona’s discredited election “audit” and a group that dissolved shortly after taking \$1 million for a suspicious legal defense fund that benefited former Trump Chief of Staff Mark Meadows. Datwyler dodged questions about the legal group’s tax status when reporters requested its tax filings.
- Datwyler has also been accused of using the name of a deceased treasurer to skirt state campaign finance laws, “accused of wire fraud,” failing to report contributions and ad spending, and has been under a criminal campaign finance investigation in Mississippi.

In addition, Accountable.US found that two Datwyler-linked 501(c)(3) nonprofit organizations apparently made illegal contributions to Datwyler-administrated PACs. The watchdog organization Citizens for Responsibility and Ethics in Washington (CREW) alleged that Datwyler’s 501(c)(4) appeared to have acted as a straw donor for the defunct cryptocurrency exchange FTX.

Trump's Director Of National Intelligence Pick Tulsi Gabbard—Called A “Serious Threat To National Security” Due To Her Support For Russia—Recently Founded Two Tax-Exempt Groups, One Of Which Disclosed That All Of Its 2023 Funding Came From Government Grants Or Contributions...

Trump Has Picked Former Rep. Tulsi Gabbard (D-HI) To Be Director Of National Intelligence (DNI), Where She Would Oversee 18 Intelligence Agencies, Including The CIA And The NSA, Despite Her Never Holding Any Senior Government Roles

Former Congresswoman Tulsi Gabbard Is President-Elect Trump's Pick To Be Director Of National Intelligence (DNI), A “Powerful Position That Sits Atop The Nation's Spy Agencies And Acts As The President's Top Intelligence Adviser.” “President-elect Donald Trump has tapped former Democratic Rep. Tulsi Gabbard to be the next director of national intelligence, a powerful position that sits atop the nation's spy agencies and acts as the president's top intelligence adviser.” Associated Press, [11/13/24]

Gabbard Was In The U.S. House From 2013 To 2021 And Unsuccessfully Ran For The Democratic Presidential Nomination In 2020. “GABBARD, Tulsi, a Representative from Hawaii; born in Leloaloa, American Samoa, April 12, 1981; B.S.B.A., Hawaii Pacific University, Honolulu, Hawaii, 2009; member of the Hawaii state house of representatives, 2002-2004; Hawaii Army National Guard, 2003-2020; United States Army Reserve, 2020-present; staff, Senator Daniel Kahikina Akaka of Hawaii; member of the Honolulu, Hawaii, city council, 2010-2012; elected as a Democrat to the One Hundred Thirteenth and to the three succeeding Congresses (January 3, 2013-January 3, 2021); was not a candidate for reelection to the One Hundred Seventeenth Congress in 2020, but was an unsuccessful candidate for the Democratic nomination for President of the United States.” Biographical Directory of the United States Congress, accessed [11/19/24]

Trump's Former National Security Adviser John Bolton Has Called On The FBI To Investigate Gabbard Before Her Confirmation, Citing “The Russian Propaganda That She Has Espoused” And Calling Her A “Serious Threat To National Security” —Meanwhile, The DNI Has Played A “Key Role” In Combatting Russian, Chinese, And Iranian Misinformation Efforts In The 2024 Election Cycle

Trump's Former National Security Adviser John Bolton Said That Gabbard Should Be Investigated By The FBI Before Their Confirmation Hearings, Saying, “Given The Russian Propaganda That She Has Espoused Over The Past Period Of Time, I Think She's A Serious Threat To Our National Security.” “Former national security adviser John Bolton said Wednesday that former Rep. Tulsi Gabbard (Hawaii) and Rep. Matt Gaetz (R-Fla.) — President-elect Trump's nominees for director of national intelligence and attorney general, respectively — should not appear for their Senate confirmation hearings until they are investigated by the FBI. [...] When Burman clarified, asking whether Bolton was calling for Gabbard to be investigated, Bolton said, ‘I think so,’ adding, ‘Given the Russian propaganda that she has espoused over the past period of time, I think she's a serious threat to our national security.’” The Hill, [11/13/24]

During The 2024 Election Cycle, The DNI “Played A Key Role In The Government’s Efforts To Identify And Expose Efforts By Russia, China And Iran To Spread False And Misleading Claims About Voting And Democracy.” “The office played a key role in the government’s efforts to identify and expose efforts by Russia, China and Iran to spread false and misleading claims about voting and democracy ahead of last week’s U.S. election. Other divisions focus on cyberthreats, counterterrorism and counterespionage.” Associated Press, [11/13/24]

Thomas Datwyler Was “Shadow Treasurer” For Disgraced Congressman George Santos’ (R-NY) Reelection Campaign, Despite Datwyler “Previously Disavowing His Involvement To The Federal Election Commission (FEC).” “Datwyler acted as a ‘shadow treasurer’ for Santos’s brief reelection bid, despite previously disavowing his involvement to the Federal Election Commission (FEC) and the media.” The Hill, [07/26/24]

Datwyler “Played A Mysterious Role In The George Santos Scandal,” When He Was “Briefly Listed As The Treasurer For Mr. Santos’s Campaign” In January 2023 After Santos “First Came Under Scrutiny For His Widespread Fabrications.” “A veteran political operative who played a mysterious role in the George Santos scandal now appears to be spearheading a newly formed super PAC that is supporting Ron DeSantis in Iowa. The new super PAC, set up amid turmoil in the network of outside organizations supporting Mr. DeSantis’s presidential campaign, lists Thomas Datwyler as its treasurer. Mr. Datwyler was also briefly listed as the treasurer for Mr. Santos’s campaign after the Republican congressman first came under scrutiny for his widespread fabrications.” The New York Times, [12/18/23]

- Datwyler Began Appearing As Treasurer In Santos’ Campaign Filings In January 2023. “As the complaint alleges, prior to January 25, 2023, Nancy Marks served as treasurer of each of the committees. She resigned from her positions that day. The committees then identified Thomas Datwyler as their respective treasurer in filings with the FEC ostensibly signed by Mr. Datwyler. In a series of letters from Mr. Datwyler’s counsel to the FEC on January 27, 2023, Mr. Datwyler stated that, contrary to the committees’ representations to the FEC, he was not the treasurer of any of these committees and that he did not sign nor cause the filings.” Citizens for Responsibility & Ethics in Washington, [05/25/23]
- Although Datwyler Tried To Distance Himself From The Santos Campaign, Reporting Showed That “Datwyler Came Up With A Plan To Supervise And Oversee The Santos Campaign Filings Using The Name Of An Associate, Rather Than His Own, To Avoid Blowback From Being Associated With The Controversial Congressman.” “The arrangement made headlines when Mr. Datwyler’s lawyer sent a letter to the F.E.C., accusing Mr. Santos of listing him in the role without his permission. Mr. Datwyler ‘would not be taking over as treasurer,’ the lawyer, Derek Ross, wrote, adding that there appeared to be ‘some disconnect.’ Then followed a head-spinning sequence of events in which Mr. Santos listed a new, previously unknown treasurer, leading to speculation that this person might not be real, but another alter ego of the congressman's. Mr. Santos has denied such claims, and has argued that Mr. Datwyler came up with a plan to supervise and oversee the Santos campaign filings using the name of an associate, rather than his own, to avoid blowback from being associated with the controversial congressman. Reporting by The Daily Beast supported Mr. Santos's account, leading to a notable reversal: Mr. Datwyler's own lawyer, Mr. Ross, wrote to the F.E.C. to retract his earlier letter." Before Datwyler Became Associated With The Santos Campaign, Its "Major Backers" Included "The Cousin Of A Sanctioned Russian Oligarch" And An Italian National Who "Pleaded Guilty To Smuggling Undocumented Migrants Into The U.S." And Had A Variety Of Other Serious Convictions—It Is Illegal To Accept Campaign Contributions From Foreign Nationals. "Santos' major backers include a migrant smuggler, an unlikely Trump donor, the cousin of a sanctioned Russian oligarch and a convicted felon. A controversial donor, who along with his apparent domestic partner gave a combined $34,500 to Santos, is Andrew Intrater, the CEO of a company which once had ties to a sanctioned Russian oligarch Intrater is the CEO of Sparrow Capital — an investment firm formerly known as Columbus Nova. [...] Meanwhile, Rocco Oppedisano's family was visibly involved with Santos's campaign. Reportedly an Italian national, the 54-year-old, donated $500 to a victory committee benefiting Santos' campaign in September according to FEC records. That donation to the son of Brazilian immigrants who campaigned as tough on immigration, drew attention after the Daily Beast reported that Oppedisano had pleaded guilty to smuggling undocumented migrants into the U.S. in 2019. Datwyler Was The Treasurer Of The American Voting Rights Foundation (AVRF), Which Was Central In The Trump Campaign's "Secret" 2021 Donation To Fund Arizona's Discredited Election "Audit." "Ten days later, on 26 July 2021, Trump's Save America Pac made its $1m transfer to CPI, according to Federal Election Commission records. Two days after that, on 28 July, a new group called the American Voting Rights Foundation (AVRF) was registered as a corporation in Delaware. Tax filings obtained recently show that CPI in turn gave $1m to AVRF in 2021 – the only known donation that the group has ever received. [...] The final stage in the money's journey was from AVRF to Cyber Ninjas and the audit itself. The same day that AVRF was registered in Delaware – 28 July 2021 – Mitchell sent an email connecting the Cyber Ninjas CEO Logan, together with the spokesman of the audit Randy Pullen, to AVRF's treasurer, Tom Datwyler." "Another C.P.I. operation, not previously reported, took place in 2022. That year, the group established Personnel Policy Operations, a nonprofit set up to 'educate and defend conservative, America First civil servants and their advisers.' The mission included helping to fund the legal defense of individuals subjected to a 'Leftist purge,' including Mr. Meadows. C.P.I. contributed $1.15 million to the legal defense fund, and in turn the defense fund issued a single grant, totaling $1.13 million, to a newly formed company called the Constitutional Rights Defense Fund. When Asked About The Grant To Constitutional Rights Defense Fund, Datwyler Claimed "'CDRF Is A Corporation'" When Denying Reporters Access To Tax Filings, Although It Was Listed As A Non-Profit Organization In A Filing From its Donor. "That disclosure showed Personnel Policy Operations gave the $1.13 million grant to Constitutional Rights Defense Fund, which has no presence online. NOTUS contacted a representative for Constitutional Rights Defense Fund, Thomas Datwyler, to request the group's tax records. Datwyler replied that 'CDRF is a corporation,' and thus, its tax documents are not open for public inspection. When asked why Constitutional Rights Defense Fund appeared on Personnel Policy Operations' form as a nonprofit and filed forms as if it were a nonprofit the following year, Datwyler said that the group is a 'nonprofit organization' that filed a corporate income tax return. He did not respond to further questions." NOTUS, [07/03/24]

...Datwyler Has Also Been Accused Of Using The Name Of A Deceased Treasurer And Failing To Report Contributions And Ad Spending, And Was Under Criminal Campaign Finance Investigation In Mississippi...

May 2024: Thomas Datwyler Was Accused Of Using The Name Of A Deceased Treasurer To Falsely Perform The Role Of Treasurer For A Republican Primary Challenger To Rep. Bob Good (R-VA). "The Republican candidate seeking to oust Freedom Caucus Chairman Bob Good (R-VA) could face an investigation over allegations he listed a deceased person as his campaign treasurer to approve finance reports. [...] The letter points to an email address listed under Clemens's name in the statement of organization that appears to belong to Thomas Datwyler, who is from Wisconsin. However, Hardin argues, state law dictates that a campaign treasurer must be a registered voter of the state, which would be a 'separate violation of the law' aside from listing a deceased treasurer. 'Given that Mr. Clemens continued to be listed as treasurer for months after his death, it raises the question whether Mr. Datwyler was performing the role of treasurer, perhaps before and after Mr. Clemens' death,' Hardin wrote." December 2023: The FEC Found Datwyler "Hadn't Properly Reported $147,601 In Contributions To Failed Senate Candidate Josh Mandel." "The Badger State native has also run into repeated trouble with the FEC. Last December, the electoral overseer found Datwyler hadn't properly reported $147,601 in contributions to failed Senate candidate Josh Mandel. Mandel's team explicitly blamed Datwyler for the violations." The Daily Beast, [10/19/23]

The FEC Has "Whacked Datwyler For Missteps With A Number Of Other Clients, Including Rep. Rick McCormick (R-GA), Rep. Rodney Davis (R-IL), And Extremist MAGA Candidate Joe Kent." "The FEC has also whacked Datwyler for missteps with a number of other clients, including Rep. Rick McCormick (R-GA), Rep. Rodney Davis (R-IL), and extremist MAGA candidate Joe Kent." The Daily Beast, [10/19/23]

Datwyler Has Faced Complaints From Abortion Rights Group EMILY's List "For Failing To Report Ad Spending In An Arizona House Race." "In April, the Democratic-affiliated abortion rights group EMILY's List called on the FEC to investigate Datwyler for failing to report ad spending in an Arizona House race." The Hill, [07/26/24]

Datwyler Has Been "Under Criminal Investigation In Mississippi, With State Prosecutors Alleging He May Have Broken State Campaign Finance Law While Backing A Republican Lieutenant Governor Primary Campaign." "Datwyler is already under criminal investigation in Mississippi, with state prosecutors alleging he may have broken state campaign finance law while backing a Republican lieutenant governor primary campaign in the state with his own super PAC." The Hill, [07/26/24]

...A GOP Super PAC Accused Datwyler Of Wire Fraud In A Justice Department Complaint...

The Conservative Nevada Leadership PAC (CNLP) Asked The Justice Department To Investigate Datwyler, Accusing Him Of Wire Fraud. "A conservative political treasurer associated with former Rep. George Santos's (R-N.Y.) campaign was accused of wire fraud by a GOP super PAC in Nevada, according to a Justice Department complaint. The Conservative Nevada Leadership PAC (CNLP) demanded the Justice Department investigate Thomas Datwyler, who has headed up the financial operations of dozens of Republican candidates and political committees in recent cycles." The Hill, [7/26/24]

CNLP Accused Datwyler Of Writing His Firm A $500 Check After He Had Stepped Down As Treasurer Of The PAC. "CNLP, a fundraising group formed to back GOP primary Senate candidate Jim Marchant, accused Datwyler of using its funds to write a $500 check after he stepped down as its treasurer. [...] According to the complaint, dated Friday, CNLP raised no money while Datwyler was its treasurer, between June and November of last year. The group received its first donation of $5,000 in December, after Datwyler had stepped down, though the group claims Datwyler wrote a check in February to his political compliance firm from the PAC's account for $500." The Hill, [7/26/24]

The Attorney Involved Accused Datwyler Of Having A Reputation For Skirting Campaign Finance Law. "The Nevada complaint was written by Dan Backer, himself a veteran GOP political attorney and consultant. 'This is the most glaring and recent example of a pattern of misconduct spanning years,' said Backer, who accused Datwyler of having a reputation for skirting campaign finance law. 'Multiple campaigns have expressed concerns and frustrations.'" The Hill, [7/26/24]

...Datwyler Served As The Treasurer To Rep. Andy Ogles's Campaign, Which Is Currently Being Investigated For Fraud By Federal Authorities

July 2024: The FBI Launched A Fraud Investigation Into U.S. Representative Andy Ogles's Mistakes On His Financial Forms After Campaign Treasurer Datwyler Was Previously Alerted Of Incorrect Amended Quarterly Reports. "U.S. Rep. Andy Ogles confirmed Tuesday the FBI is conducting a fraud investigation into his campaign finances. [...] Ogles acknowledged media reports about 'mistakes' his campaign made on its first financial filings with the Federal Election Commission and said in the post he has 'worked diligently' with lawyers and experts to correct errors and comply with federal requirements. [...] The agency notified Ogles' treasurer, Thomas Datwyler, last summer that a detailed summary page of the congressman's amended April and July quarterly reports appeared to be incorrect and violate federal campaign finance regulations.”

January 2025: Federal Prosecutors Withdrew From The Federal Criminal Investigation Of Ogles’s Campaign, Signaling Plans That The Trump DOJ May Drop Its Investigation Of The President’s Ally. “Federal prosecutors based in Nashville have withdrawn from the criminal investigation of Tennessee Congressman Andy Ogles, an unprecedented move that could signal plans by the Trump administration to drop the case against a Republican ally.” News Channel 5, [1/31/25]

The House Committee On Ethics Continues To Investigate Rep. Ogles, As Of January 2, 2025. “On August 2, 2024, the Committee received a referral from the Office of Congressional Ethics (OCE) regarding Representative Andy Ogles. Pursuant to House Rule XI, clause 3(b)(8)(A), and Committee Rules 17A(b)(1)(A), 17A(c)(1), and 17A(j), the Chairman and Ranking Member jointly decided on November 18, 2024, to extend the Committee’s review of the matter. In order to gather additional information necessary to complete its review, the Committee will review the matter pursuant to Committee Rule 18(a).” House Committee on Ethics, [1/2/25]

Sam Bankman-Fried's Defunct Cryptocurrency Exchange FTX May Have Passed Money Through Great America Coalition To Liberty Champions

FTX Made A $100,000 Contribution To A 501(c)(4) Named Liberty Champions. “According to the trial evidence, FTX made contributions to nonprofits associated with four other members of Congress on the same day, including $100,000 to a section 501(c)(4) ‘social welfare’ organization—a type of tax-exempt organization commonly associated with dark money because they can spend money influencing elections without disclosing their donors—called Liberty Champions that supported a member with the last name Lee.” Citizens For Responsibility And Ethics In Washington, [11/14/23]

There Is No Evidence Of A 501(c)(4) Named Liberty Champions. “Except there are no public records available that indicate there is actually a nonprofit that goes by the name Liberty Champions. The IRS’s searchable databases for tax-exempt organizations do not contain an entry for the group, and a search of business records via the website OpenCorporates also comes up empty.” Citizens For Responsibility And Ethics In Washington, [11/14/23]

Just Days After FTX Made Its Contribution, Great America Coalition Donated The Same Amount To Liberty Champions. “There is, however, a federally-registered super PAC called Liberty Champions that spent more than $1.6 million on independent expenditures supporting Sen. Lee in his 2022 Senate reelection effort. The super PAC did not report receiving any contributions from FTX, Bankman-Fried, or any of the individuals whose contributions are covered in the trial evidence. But it did report receiving $100,000 from an apparent nonprofit group just a few days after FTX is said to have sent the same amount to Liberty Champions.” Citizens For Responsibility And Ethics In Washington, [11/14/23]

CREW: The Donation May Have Been Funneled Through Great America Coalition. “In a FEC filing, Liberty Champions reported that it received $100,000 on August 24, 2022 from an entity called Great American Coalition with an address in southwest Washington, DC. As with Liberty Champions, there are no currently available public records indicating that a company or nonprofit called Great American Coalition exists, but there is a little-known nonprofit with a nearly identical name—Great America Coalition—that uses the same address that Liberty Champions listed for Great American Coalition in its FEC reports. Great America Coalition also has significant ties to the Liberty Champions super PAC. The treasurer of Liberty Champions is Thomas Datwyler, a Republican compliance professional who is currently experiencing notoriety due to his complicated working relationship with Santos.” Citizens For Responsibility And Ethics In Washington, [11/14/23]
